

Tuohy goes Hollywood – East!

SANDWICH, Mass. (August 13, 2008) – Veteran sports marketing specialist and regional boxing promoter, Hank Tuohy, has shifted gears and moved into the entertainment industry in a new position negotiating sponsorship relationships with the fledging Plymouth Rock Studios.

Plymouth Rock Studios plans to build a full studio with 14 sound stages in Plymouth, Massachusetts.

“I’ll be working with a lot of friends from the past and future,” Tuohy explained his new responsibilities, “but they’ll be reaching a new market through the studio. I’ve always been involved in making economic impact events, going back to when I worked in Florida (1989) for the St. Pete Pelicans senior baseball team, and this is similar only it’s not in sports.”

Plymouth Rock Studios plans to open its gates in the fall of 2010.
